Proceedings of the Third Interdisciplinary Workshop on Corpus-Based Approaches to Figurative Language

held in conjunction with Corpus Linguistics 2005.

14th July 2005

Editors:
Alan Wallington, John Barnden, Sheila Glasbey, Mark Lee, Lui Zhang

School of Computer Science
University of Birmingham
Birmingham B152TT
United Kingdom

University of Birmingham 2005

ISBN: 0704425181

Contents

Alan Wallington, John Barnden, Sheila Glasbey, mark Lee and Li Zhang 1-2
Introduction

Eva-Maria Graf 3-11
The Structure and Use of SPACE:
A Corpus-Based Analysis of Children's and Adolescents'
Literal and Metaphorical Spatial Reference in Spontaneous Conversations

John Heywood and Elena Semino 12-19
Source 'scenes' and source 'domains':
Insights from a corpus-based study of metaphors for communication

Conrad Johansson 20-26
Conceptual integration and primary metaphors in the study of Internet metaphors

Dominik Lukeš 27-34
Towards a classification of metaphor use

Fiona MacArthur 35-41
Whose hand and what is it holding? HAND FOR CONTROL revisited

Yves Peirsman 42-45
Statistical Approaches to Metonymy Disambiguation

Gill Philip 46-53
From Concept to Wording and Back Again:
Features of learners' production of figurative language

Astrid Reining 54-63
Conceptual metaphor in media discourse about the European Constitution:
An evaluation of the Hamburg Metaphor Database

Mika Shindo, Kiyotaka Uchimoto and Hitoshi Isahara 64-71
Semantic Extensions from Sensory Domains:
A Reanalysis of Source Domains Using Natural Language Processing Skills

Natalya I. Stolova 72-79
The RETURN source domain and the iterative aspect in the 16th century
Spanish: A corpus analysis of 'tornar/volver + preposition + infinitive'